

Palo Alto Remembered, 43 short stories collected into five chapters about Palo Alto from its early days through the 20th century. Each story gives a timely and sometimes provocative insight into how the city became the place it is today. Images from the Palo Alto Historical Association's archives accompany the stories.

PALO ALTO REMEMBERED: STORIES FROM A CITY'S PAST

Table of Contents:

I. Landmarks

El Palo Alto: Rooted in History
 The Stanford Theatre:
 As Time Goes By
 Dinah's Shack: A Delicate History
 University Avenue Train Depot:
 A Streamline to the Past
 The Humane Society:
 A History of Compassion
 Stanford Research Park:
 The Engine of Silicon Valley
 Stanford Shopping Center:
 Turning Pastures into Profits
 The Winter Lodge: Skating
 Through the Political Process
 The Bol Park Donkeys:
 Neighborhood Pets

II. Long Ago

The 1906 Earthquake:
 "Like a Terrier Shaking a Rat"
 Palo Alto's Early Fires:
 Fearing the Flames
 The Fourth of July:
 Summertime Celebrations
 The Circus: The Greatest Show
 in Palo Alto
 The Hotel de Zink:
 A Friend Indeed
 March 13, 1939: A Day in the Life
 Palo Alto's Civil Defense:
 Panic After Pearl Harbor
 The Palo Alto Home Front:
 Life During Wartime
 The Palo Alto Drive-In:
 A Generational Memory

III. Changing Times

Paternalism at the Movies:
 Palo Alto's Commercial
 Board of Amusements
 Woolworth's:
 Palo Alto's Five and Dime
 Restaurant Row:
 Some Good Ol' Palo Alto Cooking
 A Delivery From the Past:
 Palo Alto's Milkmen
 The Paris Theatre:
 Prurience or Porno-Chic?
 Bikes in Palo Alto:
 A Ride Through History
 The Cubberley Closing: A Tough Call

IV. Conflicts

Save the Oaks: Palo Alto's
 First Environmental Victory
 The KKK in Palo Alto:
 Terror vs Tolerance
 The Embarcadero Underpass:
 Accident Before Action
 Japanese-American Internment:
 Palo Alto's Deported Patriots
 Housing Discrimination:
 A Closed Door in Palo Alto
 The Oregon Expressway:
 Residentialists Unite
 The 1967 Recall Election:
 Palo Alto's Political Rumble
 Venceremos: Arming for a Fight
 Closing the Yacht Harbor:
 The Battle by the Bay

V. Citizens

Anna Zschokke:
 The Mother of Palo Alto's Schools
 Birge Clark: An Architectural Legacy
 JFK at Stanford: Days of Decision
 William Shockley:
 "Paranoia Strikes Deep..."
 Russel V.A. Lee: It's a Wonderful Life
 The Grateful Dead:
 Making the Scene in Palo Alto
 Beatlemania Invades Palo Alto:
 A Celebrity Story
 Jim Zurcher: Chief Superpig
 Greg Brown: Murals & Public Art,
 Fueling the Imagination in Palo Alto

Author:	Matt Bowling
Pub. date:	May 6, 2012
Publisher:	Palo Alto Historical Association (PAHA)
Book:	208 pages, soft bound 43 stories 220 historic images (B/W)
Price:	$25 plus tax
Printed by:	Omega Printing, Palo Alto
ISBN:	978-0-9638098-0-3
Info:	www.paloaltoremembered.com

The Palo Alto Historical Association (PAHA) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to the collection, preservation and dissemination of information about the history of Palo Alto. Proceeds from book sales will help support monthly programs and newsletters, various publications, and the ongoing effort to digitize the archives which are available to the public. For information about PAHA, please visit: www.pahistory.org.